

AMAC wins new completion project

Airbus ACJ320neo for Acropolis Aviation

A completion contract for a VVIP completion of an Airbus ACJ320neo has been awarded by Acropolis Aviation, to AMAC Aerospace's headquarters in Basel, Switzerland.

This will be the first Airbus A320neo delivered by Airbus Corporate Jets for VVIP configuration.

The launch customer for the ACJ320neo, Acropolis Aviation, is enhancing its bespoke aviation services with the addition of this VVIP aircraft. Building on the success of its existing Airbus ACJ319, the ACJ320neo will provide additional range via new high-efficiency engines and the addition of drag-reducing sharklets.

Acropolis Aviation, based at Farnborough Airport, UK, selected the well-known design studio Alberto Pinto for the bespoke interior design of its ACJ320neo last May 2016, also coinciding with EBACE.

The green delivered aircraft will enter AMAC's hangar doors in Q4, 2018 and will be returned to service to Acropolis Aviation in VVIP configuration in Q4, 2019.

"With great pleasure, we have signed this completion contract with Airbus Corporate Jet's launch customer, Acropolis Aviation, as one of the world's leading private aviation operators, in our 10th anniversary year. This new completion project is based on the excellent reputation that AMAC has gained in the market which we continuously demonstrated over the last 19 VIP/ VVIP and refurbishment/ modification projects at AMAC Aerospace," said Bernd Schramm, Group Chief Operating Officer, AMAC Aerospace.

Acropolis Aviation selected AMAC Aerospace following an extensive and competitive six-month long tender process.

Entrance hall, Design: Alberto Pinto

Credenza TV, Design: Alberto Pinto

"The quality offered by AMAC is second-to-none. We needed to select the right outfitter to bring Alberto Pinto's amazing vision to life, and from our point of view AMAC demonstrated to us they had the skill and creativity to do this better than anyone else," said Jonathan Bousfield, CEO of Acropolis Aviation. "We are extremely pleased to return to EBACE to announce this decision jointly with AMAC Aerospace and congratulate them too on a decade of success outfitting the finest VIP business jets."